FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LLOYD LAUNCHES LONG ISLAND'S 100% RETAINED EXECUTIVE SEARCH DIVISION Steve Speter Named Managing Director

(Melville, NY – June 28, 2006)

Lloyd Staffing, one of the Metropolitan Area's largest privately held staffing organizations, today announced the appointment of Steve Speter, Managing Director of Lloyd's Retained Executive Search Division. For many years, Lloyd Staffing has maintained executive search as part of their business, but with growing client need, the decision was made to dedicate an entire division solely to retained search.

“It is with great pleasure that we welcome Steve to Lloyd,” said Merrill Banks, CPC, and CEO. “In response to our clients’ increasing demand for high-level, confidential searches, we were seeking a professional who could expand our existing resources and provide our division with the highest caliber of personality, background and client trust in the industry. Lloyd has found those unique traits in Steve.”

Steve was Executive Vice President and Managing Director of one of the top 5 executive search firms in the industry; making significant placements at the President, COO and CEO levels, to name a few. He has successfully obtained influential clients such as Burberry, Foster Industries, Weight Watchers, Rite Aid, AT&T, the Cleveland Indians baseball team, and many more.

Prior to executive search, Steve was a senior-level executive in merchandising and operations. He holds a BA degree from Queens College and a Masters of Business Administration from St. John's University.

Steve's executive search efforts at Lloyd will be national in scope; providing assistance to, as well as utilizing resources from, Lloyd's 13 locations nationwide. Steve's expertise in placing C-level (i.e. CEO, COO, CFO, CTO, CIO, and CMO) management in a variety of specialties provides Lloyd Staffing with one of the finest resources in the industry.
